ELEGANT, AUTHENTIC AND ROBUST STONE
FLOORING FOR TODAY'S INTERIORS

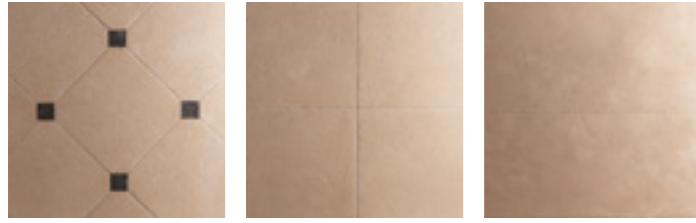

Lapicida is proud to have been chosen to partner with English Heritage to create an exclusive collection of genuine limestone floors. Each hard-wearing stone is available in three formats: 400mm x 400mm Square; 500mm x Random Flag; and 400mm x 400mm Octagon with insert. These formats reflect the varying degrees of formality found in the historic sites in English Heritage's care.

Each stone has been chosen for its character and quality as the best natural stone stands the test of time. We hand-finish the stone with diamond brushing, which improves durability and gives each stone a distinctive character and a desirable, aged appearance, adding a touch of historical grandeur to any space. This makes the collection the ideal choice for giving interiors a sense of timeless beauty and classic sophistication, whether in a traditional property or a contemporary setting.

Dating from the thirteenth-century, the stones of the most complete surviving Dominican friary bear testament to Blackfriars' long history and provided inspirational echoes for Lapidica's rich blend of creamy beige floors with subtle tones.

BELSAY HALL, NORTHUMBERLAND

Completed in 1817, Belsay Hall was designed by the then owner Sir Charles Monck, inspired by the sites of antiquity he had seen on his extended honeymoon in Greece. The mellow patina of the stone in the Pillar Hall has now provided Lapidica's inspiration.

Dating from the mid-nineteenth century, Fort Brockhurst was built to defend England's shores from a French invasion that never happened. Today, those same robust fortifications have inspired Lapidica's equally hard wearing natural stone floor.
